Foellinger Announces New Deadline for Family Development Grant Applications

The annual grant application deadline in the Family Development category has moved to August.

The Foellinger Foundation has moved the grant application deadline for the Family Development grant category to the first Monday in August of each year.

It is crucial that nonprofits understand this change so that they submit their grant applications at the right time and do not miss opportunities to seek grant funding.

Until now, grants applications in this category have been due in February for Board decisions in May. Effective immediately, the applications will be due annually on the first Monday in August. The deadline for this year is August 1, 2011, by 5 p.m. The Board decisions on the grant applications will occur in November.

As before, Family Development grant applicants may request multi-year funding. Capital support grants will not be accepted. Organizations may only submit one application for operating or program support per calendar year. If your organization submitted a grant application to the Foellinger Foundation in February 2011 for one-year funding, you will be eligible to apply for Family Development funding in August 2012.

The change is intended to enhance coordination and communication with all grantees and applicants.

ABOUT THE FOELLINGER FOUNDATION

The Foellinger Foundation is a private charitable foundation that awards grants for the benefit of people in Fort Wayne and Allen County, Indiana. The Foundation was created in 1958 by Helene R. Foellinger, The News-Sentinel publisher from 1936 to 1980, and Esther A. Foellinger, her mother.
